CHAIRPERSON'S MESSAGE

By Ms. Gloria Kabonga, Board Chairperson

“We are now closer to achieving our goals than we have ever been before.”

Welcoming you to our Annual General Meeting.

As we reflect on the past year, I am filled with gratitude and pride for what we have accomplished together. Our dedication to excellence and community engagement has been inspiring. This report highlights our journey, achievements, and the challenges we have overcome.

As we reflect on this year's journey, we celebrate our achievements and the resilience of our creative sector. Together, we have fostered an environment that nurtures collaboration and creativity, and we look forward to the continued progress that lies ahead, driven by our shared passion for growth and innovation.

While challenges still abound, I can assure you that the road ahead is filled with opportunities for growth of our industry. We are now closer to achieving our goals than we have ever been before and with your unwavering support, the renewed unity with our partners ZAM, we will strive to push boundaries and reach greater heights. Our collective efforts will drive us towards a more sustainable future.

IN MEMORIAM

We observe a moment of silence for all our colleagues who passed on since our last AGM, and all others who may have passed on without the information reaching the Secretariat.

Mr. Chali Bravo Mulalami

May their souls rest in peace.

Let us embrace the future with enthusiasm, the spirit of unity and collaboration that defines our organization, knowing that our collective efforts will shape the success of our mission and inspire the next generation of music creators in our nation.

Moving forward, we remain focused on growth and innovation. Together, we will explore new opportunities that align with our mission.

Thank you for your continued support and commitment.

May I now share a few highlights.

Licensing

The licensing department has continued to operate under a lot of challenges, especially with the ailing economy which has pushed compliance to its lowest.

To many of our licensees, load shedding has disturbed their operational capacity, forcing them to reduce their working hours. As such we have had to experience delays and, in most cases, complete refraining to pay for the copyright licence, citing poor overall business performance.

The department has further been confined to the CBD in its licensing activities and coverage owing to lack of adequate transportation. This challenge has limited the scope and efficiency of our licensing activities across the country.

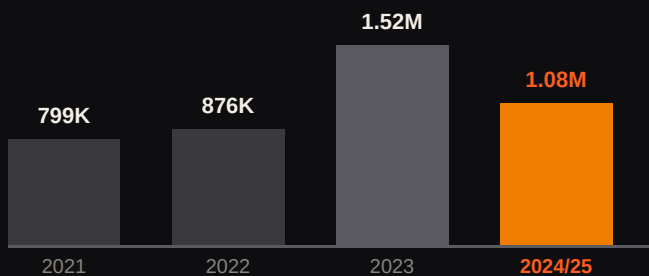

While these obstacles have had an adverse impact on our collections under the year of review, I'm glad to report that as a team, we have intensified our efforts to address them and made several engagements with key stakeholders aimed at overcoming the long outstanding hurdles that have plagued us for too long.

Finance

Income for the year 2024/2025 stood at K1,083,459 as reported in the financial report. While this figure is not anywhere near our market potential, when you analyse collections for the past few years — K799,023 in 2021, K875,570 in 2022, and K1,516,916 in 2023 — you will no doubt appreciate the effort from the team in collecting and keeping us afloat.

COLLECTIONS BY YEAR (KWACHA)

Documentation & Distribution

The department has recorded notable strides in maintaining, improving and storing our metadata. We can now boast of leveraging available technology to attain efficiency in monitoring and capturing accurate usage data from media institutions that provide a basis for distributing what we collect.

All our processes, from registration to distribution, are now fully digitized and we are able to serve our esteemed members better and faster than before. I'm proud to inform you that the upgrade of our Documentation & Distribution software is complete, and our membership has significantly increased as a result.

Despite the highlighted challenges in our overall collections, the Secretariat distributed royalties to members amounting to K984,234.

Sensitization

ZAMCOPS has had an active share in disseminating copyright information to the general public at every given opportunity.

Partnering with strategic industry players like PACRA, NAC and PAAGZ, we featured on many fora, platforms, workshops and media engagements, and ran sensitization programmes to educate members on copyright and the current legislative status.

Legal

MEDIA HOUSES

Following the stringent measures taken by the Society to collect the monies owed by ZNBC, we have extended the same legal route to the other media houses that owe the Society colossal sums, engaging our lawyers to start taking legal action against them.

About 30 were served with demand letters, and a good number have started responding positively.

LEGISLATION

While we had felt we had done enough to get the review of the Copyright and Performance Rights Act No. 44 of 1994 and Amendment No. 25 of 2010 under way, we seriously lament the slow pace in amending the Act or formulating a statutory instrument. We are not slowing down in our push.

Continued overleaf →

"All our processes, from registration to distribution, are now fully digitized."

The Push for a New Copyright Act

ZAMCOPS has partnered with PAAGZ, the lobbyist experts who have helped organize several key institutions and held symposiums and discussions to find quicker ways of pushing the Government for the urgent review of the Act.

Taking advantage of the Copyright Fund team from COSOMA, Malawi, that visited our country for the business summit, ZAMCOPS was able to spearhead engagements with key ministries — the Ministry of Youth, Sport and Arts; the Ministry of Commerce, Trade and Industry; and the Ministry of Technology and Science, where the team from Malawi and ourselves met the Minister to lobby for his support to speed up amending the Act, or to formulate a Statutory Instrument that would compel all music users to pay copyright royalties promptly and introduce the Private Copy Remuneration Levy (blank media levy) in our legislation.

All these efforts and initiatives require our collective minds, connections and influence to bring them to fruition.

This election period in our country presents enormous opportunities for us to engage the lawmakers, even the Head of State, and demand that they attend to our plight. Instead of handouts, this time around, we demand a new Copyright Act that adequately addresses these challenges.

We also demand the inclusion of, or a statutory instrument for, the commencement of the blank media/private copying levy, which has the potential to economically boost the creative sector and the economy at large.

“Instead of handouts, this time around, we demand a new Copyright Act.”

Conclusion

I would like to end by encouraging each artist and member of ZAMCOPS: while we are not yet experiencing the full benefits of our membership with the Society, please do not relent. Our creative sector holds immense potential to drive the growth of our institution, so that it is adequately equipped to collect from every place that uses our copyrighted works and compensate fairly for that use. Each one of us can contribute to the ongoing initiatives, and our collective input will eventually bear our desired results. I warmly thank you.

MINUTES OF THE 22ND ELECTIVE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

Held at the National Institute of Public Administration (NIPA) · 15 November 2024

Opening

The General Manager, Mr. Mirrias Siamutondo, called the meeting to order at 10:00 hours following the confirmation of a quorum. He extended a warm welcome to all members and invited guests present at the 22nd Annual General Meeting of ZAMCOPS.

The national anthem was performed by board member Monica Kasonde, followed by an opening prayer led by Mateyo Mulenshi.

In his introductory remarks, Mr. Siamutondo outlined the programme and detailed the day's agenda. He then invited the Board Chairperson, Mrs. Gloria Siyazana, to deliver her opening remarks and introduce the guest of honour, Mr. Precious Hichikumba, Permanent Secretary for Investment and Industrialization at the Ministry of Commerce, Trade and Industry.

Mr. Hichikumba was tasked with reading the speech on behalf of the Honourable Chikopa Mulenga, MP, Minister of Commerce, Trade and Industry.

30

YEARS OF ZAMCOPS — marked by the Board Chairperson at the 22nd AGM, reflecting on three decades of successes and challenges in protecting Zambian music.

The Chair's Opening Remarks

The board chairperson expressed her heartfelt gratitude, acknowledging the 30-year existence of ZAMCOPS. She took a moment to reflect on both the successes and challenges faced during this time, highlighting the importance of copyright enforcement in enabling music creators to earn royalties for the use of their works. Furthermore, she emphasized the significance of preserving cultural heritage and fostering creativity, which contribute to the growth of the music industry and, by extension, the overall economy.

The chairperson also extended her thanks to the general membership for their tremendous and unwavering support, which has empowered the board and secretariat to fulfill their mandate in shaping the future of copyright. She greatly appreciated the continuous sharing of information and ideas from the membership.

Following her remarks, the chairperson invited the guest of honor, Mr. Precious Hichikumba, the Permanent Secretary for Investment and Industrialization, to deliver his speech.

KEYNOTE · FROM THE GUEST OF HONOUR

THE MINISTER'S ADDRESS

In his opening remarks, the Minister expressed his delight to ZAMCOPS for hosting an elective Annual General Meeting both in person and virtually, enabling members from all parts of the country to participate and contribute meaningfully.

He commended ZAMCOPS for leveraging technology to foster unity and inclusiveness for such a significant event in the music industry, and wished success for the transition to a new executive. The Minister hoped that the reports showcasing past achievements would highlight innovative ideas to address the industry's challenges, ultimately contributing to its growth.

In view of contributing to economic growth, the Minister highlighted notable achievements by his ministry, such as engaging the Ministry of Local Government and Rural Development to spearhead a memorandum of understanding allowing ZAMCOPS to collect royalties through levies across the country, and the Ministry of Transport and Logistics to assist in collecting user fees from public transport operators.

Government was partnering with international platforms like YouTube to include Zambia's arts on their platforms, and the ministry had pushed for the inclusion of the private copy or blank media remuneration levy in the Copyright Bill — a levy charged by the Zambia Revenue Authority, at the point of entry, on imported devices with storage capabilities, on behalf of CMOs.

KEY POINT

A blank media levy — collected by ZRA at the point of entry on behalf of CMOs — is proposed in the Copyright Bill.

AGM MINUTES · CONTINUED

The minister further emphasized the significance of the Copyright and Performance Rights Acts of 2006, which facilitate enforcement, address copyright infringement, and help resolve copyright disputes.

In his closing remarks, he encouraged members to keep supporting the organization and to welcome a new executive that will promote cooperation and carry out their mandate. The Minister officially declared the 22nd ZAMCOPS Annual General Meeting open.

Following his speech, General Manager Mr. Siamutondo expressed gratitude to the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Commerce, Trade, and Industry for taking time from their busy schedule to officiate at the AGM, as well as for the strong assurances and ongoing commitment from the Ministry.

READING OF THE MINUTES

PREVIOUS AGM & MATTERS ARISING

The General Manager read the minutes of the 21st Annual General Meeting, held at the NIPA Conference Centre, and thereafter invited reactions from the membership.

Q · BISHOP NGAMBI

Why did the Guest of Honour not spend time at the AGM, asking to be excused for other commitments soon after presenting his speech? What is the role of a guest of honour at such an important event?

A · BOARD CHAIRPERSON

The chairperson noted the issue as a pain point: it was the board's wish that the Guest of Honour would stay longer and hear the concerns raised by the membership. She expressed joy that, even so, the Ministry of Commerce, Trade and Industry was addressing many of the issues affecting the music industry, and that representation from the IBA and ministry officials was a testament to how highly the AGM was regarded.

Q · BISHOP NGAMBI

How far has the organisation gone in creating a platform like YouTube, allowing members to log in and download their music?

A · GENERAL MANAGER

ZAMCOPS currently does not have the legal backing and mandate to collect royalties from digital platforms, as the amendment of the copyright law is still at bill stage in Parliament. Once the law is implemented, ZAMCOPS will actively participate in that space.

“Once the law is implemented, ZAMCOPS will actively participate in that space.”

Q · REV. LAURA NYIRONGO NG'ANDU

How far has the organisation gone in paying royalties, and how can members apply for them?

A · SECRETARIAT

The K500 was being paid out starting with the earliest registered members and moving up to the newly registered. With over 7,000 registered members, it was not possible to pay everyone in one distribution year, hence the decision to spread the payments. Some members had not submitted updated KYC (Know Your Client) documentation as requested; without it, the secretariat had no means of contacting beneficiaries about royalties accrued.

Q · REV. LAURA NYIRONGO NG'ANDU

How many members have benefited from the K500 payment, out of the 7,000 registered members, under the allocation resolution of the previous AGM?

A · BOARD MEMBERS

ZAMCOPS was keenly following the private copy levy remuneration provision in the Copyright Bill, now at bill stage in Parliament. Once law, it would mandate ZAMCOPS to collect enough revenue — as in Malawi, which had done very well and redistributed royalties to its members in excess of five hundred million.

Q · MR. FRANCIS KAUMBA

Has ZAMCOPS made efforts to collect royalties for Zambian music played in other countries such as the DRC, Malawi, Namibia and South Africa? Are there plans for ZAMCOPS to create its own radio station to promote members' music?

A · GENERAL MANAGER

ZAMCOPS is a member of CISAC, the international organisation that regulates CMOs worldwide, whose rules allow members to check with other societies on remittances for music played in their countries. Elsewhere, governments had implemented regulations compelling radio and TV stations to play 90% local and 10% foreign music, hence remittances came only some time after collection. ZAMCOPS had been pushing for this regulation in Zambia, and it was being tabled as a bill in Parliament.

Q · MR. BRIGHT MWAPE

How are royalties distributed, and how is the K500 being paid?

A · GENERAL MANAGER

Payment started with the oldest registered members: depending on the amount allocated for distribution, ZAMCOPS began with those registered in 1996, up to 2015. The K500 royalties were added to current royalties as a lump-sum payment.

The Chairperson requested a moment of silence in memory of fallen comrades who had passed on since the last Annual General Meeting.

In her opening remarks, she announced that ZAMCOPS had recorded great achievements: revenue had gone up 63% compared with the previous period in 2023. Losses had been incurred post-COVID, with businesses in the hospitality and music industry closing down, load-shedding, copyright infringement, and unauthorised use of music in public performances — radio, bars, restaurants, public transporters and television stations — without licences from ZAMCOPS.

The report informed members of activities during the period under review, highlighting strides in administering copyright in the country, such as the enforcement of copyright laws and regulations. With the help of the Ministry of Commerce, Trade and Industry, the board had partnered with the Ministry of Local Government and Housing and the Ministry of Transport and Logistics to educate law enforcement, policymakers, music stakeholders and the public on respecting intellectual property rights, timely payments and the consequences of infringement.

The chairperson also gave an update on the ZNBC vs ZAMCOPS copyright infringement case: the institution had started meeting its commitments, having so far paid K700,000 of the K5,000,000 arrears owed to ZAMCOPS.

ZAMCOPS had paid its membership to CISAC, the international organisation founded to enforce compliance among member societies worldwide in relation to music copyright and the distribution of royalties. It had also acquired 5 acres of land at Nkwashi Estates, worth 1.1 million and payable over 5 years, to build a modern facility for the organisation's Annual General Meetings, workshops and seminars — and was securing more land for secretariat staff and the general membership through a memorandum of understanding with Nkwashi Estates.

“The need for legal systems to adequately protect the rights of music creators and enforce copyright laws.”

— ON THE ZNBC CASE

MEMBERS' NOTICE · KYC COMPLIANCE

The General Manager noted that members who had not received royalty payments had largely not returned the KYC (Know Your Client) form circulated by the secretariat, with updated contact details, emails, next of kin and bank account numbers. Members facing any challenges are urged to contact the secretariat to be guided and have their compliance documentation updated.

financial REPORT

The General Manager presented the financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2024 — and the floor responded.

VOICE · JAMES BANDA

Appreciated the board for a job well done in completing projects, and urged the membership to avoid bad-mouthing ZAMCOPS — and instead be advocates and brand ambassadors for the institution on their various digital platforms.

VOICE · SIMWINGA WISDOM

Thanked the board for the acquisition of land at Nkwashi Estates, as it would reduce the fixed rental cost currently incurred by the institution.

Q · JANET

What is being done to increase membership, and what is the time frame and deadline for the Nkwashi Estate ZAMCOPS building project? What is the provision for unrecoverable debt in the financial statements, and who is included in the NHIMA cost?

Members were urged to be advocates and brand ambassadors for ZAMCOPS on their digital platforms.

A · SECRETARIAT

ZAMCOPS licenses establishments that use music on their premises, such as restaurants, bars and filling stations. Licensing means issuing an invoice; if it is not paid, the amount sits under receivables. Due to economic challenges some establishments close, leaving no way of recovering the money — in the books, this becomes unrecoverable debt.

NHIMA relates to the medical scheme for secretariat staff. It does not cover the general membership, unless a proposal to do so is made through a constitutional amendment.

ALSO RAISED · FOR SECRETARIAT FOLLOW-UP

- A member who joined in 2008 and submitted the KYC form had not yet received royalties.
 - Chibwala Maseka asked what efforts were being made to collect royalties from Congo.
 - Musanikuzi Banda requested help with the distribution of their music.
- Secretariat to take up and close off each matter.

IBA ACT NO. 18

ABOUT THE IBA

The Director of Corporate and Communications thanked ZAMCOPS for the opportunity to speak at the Annual General Meeting about IBA's work.

The IBA was established through Act of Parliament No. 17 of 2002, amended through the IBA Amendment Act No. 26 of 2010 and IBA Act No. 18 of 2017. It became operational in 2013, is overseen by a board, and its decisions are executed by the Director General, supported by an executive team with various expertise.

The IBA regulates Zambia's broadcasting industry, promoting a pluralistic and diverse sector. Its functions include granting, renewing, suspending and cancelling radio and television licences, setting standards for stations, and monitoring licensees for compliance.

HOW IBA WILL BACK MUSIC ROYALTIES

- 01 Encourage and advise radio and television stations to submit their playlists to ZAMCOPS.
- 02 Advise stations to pay copyright levies and licences in accordance with the ZAMCOPS calendar.
- 03 Advise stations to adopt a deliberate policy of playing more local content than foreign.
- 04 Enhance collaboration between media owners' associations and ZAMCOPS, and provide an updated list of radio stations.
- 05 Appeal to content creators to produce clean versions for radio and television, in line with IBA standards.

FROM THE FLOOR

Q • A MEMBER

Concerned about IBA's stance on regulating music content from the Copperbelt that is not a clean version for radio and television.

A • IBA

IBA was concerned with the content being played, and stiff measures were being put in place to curb the vice.

Q • A MEMBER

Would IBA do more than just advise on copyright infringement and the payment of royalties?

ON A ZAMCOPS RADIO STATION

Answering the membership, the Director confirmed that ZAMCOPS could open a radio station, and encouraged members to follow IBA on its digital platforms.

A · IBA (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 15)

IBA operates within the law and could only enforce royalty payments on behalf of ZAMCOPS if the law were amended — it cannot enforce what is not stipulated in the Act, which outlines what IBA can do. The Director echoed that if institutions collaborate more and speak with one voice, some of the restrictions in the law could change. The General Manager thanked IBA for its assurance and urged members on the importance of collaboration for the institution to grow and achieve its objectives.

ANY OTHER BUSINESS

Q · A MEMBER

What happens to royalties when a member of ZAMCOPS dies?

A · SECRETARIAT

Under copyright law, a creator's rights continue for 50 years after their death. That is why members are asked to update the KYC form: it provides for a next of kin, to whom ZAMCOPS will continue paying accrued royalties for the next 50 years. Members were encouraged to update their details and submit the KYC form.

Q · A MEMBER

Why were staff expenses for the period so high compared with the total royalties paid out?

A · BOARD CHAIRPERSON

When COVID started, the board faced a very difficult decision: lay off employees or put them on half salaries to maintain operations. Laying staff off would have meant sanctions from the Ministry of Labour, whose minister had stated that nobody was to lose employment due to COVID. For three years the organisation accrued staff salary arrears, unpaid until last year when its financial position improved; ZAMCOPS has started paying them off, as an employment compliance issue. During that period ZAMCOPS closed its Kitwe office, laid off two employees and transferred one to the Lusaka office.

HRS · THE BOARD IS DISSOLVED

Proceedings handed over to the Electoral Commission of Zambia to conduct elections.

CLOSING REMARKS · MRS. GLORIA K. SIYAZANA

The General Manager invited the Board Chairperson, Mrs. Gloria K. Siyazana, for her closing remarks and the dissolution of the board. She said it had been a great honour and pleasure to serve ZAMCOPS for the three years since the board was elected into office.

She sincerely thanked members for their support, interrogations, decisions and contributions that continue to shape ZAMCOPS, and described her fellow board members' journey of sacrifices, tough decisions and labour of love as a roller coaster. She asked the board members to stand and thank the membership, then dissolved the board and handed over to the Electoral Commission of Zambia to conduct elections.

POMPI

Proudly Zambian · Protecting the music, protecting the name.

Every song tells a story, and every story deserves to be protected.

Zambian artist Pompi has built a loyal following at home and across the region with music that speaks to the heart. Like every creator, he knows that a song is more than sound: it is identity, it is culture and, above all, it is legacy.

As Zambian music reaches more listeners than ever, artists like Pompi show why knowing your rights matters just as much as making great music.

THE POWER OF AN IPI NUMBER

One of the most important tools every artist should understand is the IPI (Interested Party Information) number. It might sound technical, but it is powerful and essential.

Think of it as your musical passport. An IPI number identifies you as the rightful creator of your music, so that every song you write stays tied to your name, wherever in the world it is played.

It is about more than collecting royalties: it protects your identity as an artist. In a digital era where songs travel faster than ever, your IPI number keeps your creative fingerprint safe and says loud and clear: “This song belongs to me.”

“This song belongs to me.”

WHAT AN IPI NUMBER SAYS FOR EVERY ARTIST

NAVIGATING THE GLOBAL STAGE

Zambian music is on the rise, streaming on Spotify, Apple Music, YouTube and many other platforms. As artists like Pompi carry the Zambian sound across borders, professionalism and clarity matter more than ever. An IPI number prevents confusion between artists with similar names. It keeps your music and your legacy distinct, and ensures you are correctly credited in international rights databases.

In collaborations, whether with fellow Zambian artists or international names, the IPI system makes ownership clear, builds trust and opens doors to opportunities such as sync licensing in film and brand partnerships.

WHERE AND HOW TO GET YOUR IPI NUMBER

The process is simple: every ZAMCOPS member is entitled to their own IPI number at no cost. Free of charge!

BUILDING A LEGACY THAT LASTS

An IPI number is not just a formality; it is part of an artist’s legacy. Long after a song leaves the charts, it guarantees that its creator will always be recognised.

It is a mark of maturity in the music business, proof that you take your art seriously and are safeguarding your creative journey.

To every Zambian artist: protect your art, understand your rights and carry the Zambian sound with pride. We are no longer just local; we are global. The world is listening, so let’s make sure our names are written in the history books, with every beat of our legacy.

SECRETARIAT'S CORNER

Hello to all our valued members and prospective members of ZAMCOPS.

Today, we want to briefly address another important aspect of our registration for ZAMCOPS Membership for both Groups and Bands.

This message is intended to update all members and others yet to apply for membership and help everyone understand the membership process, the registration criteria for both individually and as a group, and the responsibility of the group representative.

Who Can Be a member?

ZAMCOPS was established following the enactment of the Copyright and Performance Rights Act of 1994 by composers, authors and publishers of Music. These three categories of artists are therefore the ones eligible for membership with ZAMCOPS.

Who is a Composer, Author or Publisher of Music?

Composer: One who creates the music (melody) with or without the lyrics(words)

Author/Lyricist: The one who writes the words of the song.

Publisher: An individual or company that signs a legal publishing contract with the owner of the musical works to sponsor the recording or promotion, marketing or distribution to the general public.

Individual Registration is Essential: While groups can register in their respective capacity as a group or band, it's encouraged that every composer and author or publisher also register individually for membership so they can receive royalties from their contribution in the group or bands musical works that are registered with ZAMCOPS. Remember, your creative work deserves recognition and compensation!

Group Membership and the Representative Role

For those in bands or groups, please ensure that you choose as your representative someone who is eligible for membership, i.e.; a composer, author or publisher and that person will submit a Group Membership Application Form and handle all official dealings with us including attending AGMs on behalf of the Group or Band.

·Authorization Letter: Ensure your representative has a formal authorization letter from all group members.

·Required Documentation: Don't forget to include copies of all composers' National Registration Cards and individual authorizations. This ensures accurate payment or distribution to the rightful owner's creators.

The Importance of Registering Group Works and Individual Composers

Registering your works is essential for securing income from music usage. It guarantees that your creative efforts are compensated fairly.
